

Spiraea Bumalda

Gold Mound

'Gold Mounds' leaves emerge a glowing golden in Spring, gradually fading to a golden green as Summer progresses.

Tiny pink flowers in flat-topped clusters (corymbs) cover the foliage in late Spring to mid-Summer; sparse and intermittent repeat bloom often occurring throughout the remainder of the growing season.

Fall foliage colors include yellows, oranges and reds.

Best in the full sun, in average soil, with regular water.

Wildlife resistant once established.

Pollinator friendly.
