

Anemone x Hybrida

Lucky Charm

Briggs Nursery 2014 Plant of the Year

The common name for Anemone is Windflower. Lucky Charm adds more 'seasonality' due to its characteristics. Initially, the tops and undersides of Lucky Charm's leaves are a dark violet color. As the leaves mature, the topsides turn to a darker than normal green, and the undersides to a lighter violet. The stems are dark purple, almost black, while the flower buds are a medium violet. Lucky Charm's flowers are darker pink than September Charm, and are excellent mid – to -late season flower color. 36" x 20"
